Donor Pepper is making an out in Washington to raise money for the school. How Pepper wants more sugar?

Packing houses are getting sore for a big tomato crop.
It's hope that the price will yield a profitable return to every owner.

Stuart and Fort Myers plan celebrations this week end.
The celebration is officially opened. Those in charge plans are expecting between $100 and $200 per person to the opening ceremonies.

The State Highway Board is in Tampa a week ago road work. Those boys will be to become managers if they going to please all delega-a that asked for work.

It is just a few weeks until the legislature will be in session and no one has pointed out the fact that the legislature can be raised. Citizens Florida voted 12 to 1 to pay it 1000 per cent. It is a good try out their mandate.

The president of a large tobacco company said his company at $16,000,000 in one year attaining a certain brand of cigarettes. But that company considered it as a state of Florida it is hard to see how many millions would be spent. Telling the report to many advantages here.

The State Highway Board has announced that operation of a highway between Canal Point and Twenty Mile Bend will be up to a few months. The contractor has assured a board that all will be in result on April 1. Welcome to residents of the Lake Oke-chobee region.

Next Thursday is a day set as officials of the Everglades Experiment Station to Glade to show growers the results of their experiments in controlling bean rust. The experiment station will take advantage of this opportunity to ascertain first hand results as to results of the experiments. The meeting is scheduled to start at 2 p. m.

It is ridiculous to think that a second largest body of fresh water wholly within the United States should be termed salt water the statute books. Nevertheless, it is so and the statute in the eyes of the law is alter. Palm Beach county's representatives in the coming session of the legislature will make an effort to see that the lake is referred to its original status—salt water.

ILLIS SEES NO TAX CUTS THIS YEAR

Clearwater, March 18.—(AP)— repeating his belief that there is no hope of tax cuts this year, D.
Stuart Gillis, president of the 1937 Senate, declared today need for new state revenue without a cent of tax cut.

Mr. Gillis pointed out that total expected losses from other revenue sources and the amount of expenditures total $11,700,000 which can be raised only by some form of taxation. According to the legislature, the total state income will be $11,700,000. The amount of the state's revenue from the gross receipts tax will be $11,700,000. The deficit of $11,700,000 is a small amount that the state will agree to pay $11,700,000 in inheritance tax as it did from the death in the J. P. family.

In the face of facts, however, the legislature is steadily refusing to approve the appropriation for overhaul expenses which were members of the state legislature this week with the consideration of the budget bill.
According to latest reports from Tallahassee, the legislature contains his original opinion that it is in excess of what is needed.

The proposed budget of $11,700, 733.54, over the 1936 figure.
Practically all increases were voted over Governor Cone's chairmanof the board. Other members of the commission are: Secretary of State Gray, Attorney General Amis, Comptroller Lee, Treasurer Knott, Superintendent of Education Engle, and Commissioner of Agriculture Mayo.

99 PER CENT AGAINST COSTS Palm Beach Times
Palm Beach Times, March 18.— Florida legislature asking for laws to keep the sacred cow of Florida from the highways, show the legislature's attitude toward the first block was distributed to students at the University of Florida. The legislature is asking the student body to vote 99 per cent in favor of fencing up the cows—and the other one per cent are sons of small cattle owners or friends of the same," declared Hubert C. Schuch, president of the student body, while the request went forward for 20 more sets of petitions.

Even the youngsters' know that these critics should be kept in their owners' pastures. They know that this cow, long sacred to the state, is a plain nuisance, a pain in the neck, and as fatal as an epidemic if she is given the right to mander the highways in the process of making a living.

When the legislature meets in April it will find nearly every citizen of Florida a living petition against these naughty heifers and bawling bulls. Nearly every club of every age and sex are and are submitting petitions for laws to keep these cantanker our cattle from the roadways.

Now would you like to know have the necessary fences built at public expense? They put it in the legislature's hands. The holders of domestic and range animals responsible for the candewers' perigations.

The legislature is to support the proposed measure of the judicial chapter of commerce. This would be a good thing. It is a human any lackadaisical livestock straggling along automobile path. String any citizens could impounhighway cattle.

A HUMAN CORPORATION
Daytona Beach News
Corporations can be human.
Within the past year the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company proved that it is a human as its 90,000 employees. For years this company—popularly called the A.
T. & P.—has been a pioneer in operation. As a result of its successful leader in the retail chain-store system, it has made itself a pioneer in bettering the hard working conditions which always have been part of the retail grocery business.

A year ago in January the A.
T. & P. voted $500,000 to be used for increasing the wages of store clerks. At another meeting last May the company voted an additional $500,000 for the same purpose, and since then even more than this additional amount has been voted for further raises.

Instead of stopping at this, the company has inaugurated a minimum wage system for its retail and grocery managers and for full-time clerks, and has established a basis for shorter hours.
Vacation with full pay has been voted by this company to full time clerks as well as managers, and a plan is being worked out by which managers and clerks will have a half holiday each week, so they have more leisure for their personal affairs.

The company has established substantial sickness and accident benefits for its managers and full time clerks after they have been employed six months.

All this is little short of revolutionary in the retail grocery business. Long hours have been a part of the groceryman's lot from immemorial—long hours, hard work and not much to show for it.

GET YOUR PENNIES READY
Discussing the probable adoption of a sales tax at the coming session of the legislature, Senator Gillis points out that the chief obstacle to it is that it places an incapable levy on those with small incomes. "That is what sets Senator Gillis against it and that is why it has always been stalled off by the legislature as a last resort.
Because it falls on people who can least afford to pay taxes it has been consistently rejected in favor of other sources of revenue.

In this search even a slot machine tax was considered, and the stores were saddled with a camouflaged sales tax which could not be passed on directly to consumers. These two levies now face repeal, jeopardizing the schools which got both—one directly and the other second hand and having nothing in sight for old age pensions. It is for these purposes that legislators are turning again toward a sales tax and if any example can be found for it the needs of the schools and the aged are the easiest to qualify.

The tax would still come from those who can least afford to pay them. They would get their money back. This method is scoffed at as making old folks pay their own pensions and running the schools on the pennies of the children. To The "rich legend, of a man bartering his immortal soul for the dolls of youth, in old-time barter, is it gold and glory he wishes?

A treasure which contains all others."

In a flash the Evil One stands respondent before him, announcing himself as the philosopher's service.
Is it gold and glory he wishes?
A treasure which contains all others."

Our own world has its millions of Fausts, pitter with the realization that they have grown old, eager to pay the price to regain the years that have slipped so stealthily into the past. How many are there who would not do to realize what I, as Faust, do when I raise black Meph-istopheles' drapery and my white hair disappear, and am a young student, I stand brilliant and handsome in my scarlet doublet and hose?

It is easy, this illusion, once you learn to pull the rope cord at the right instant. But in real life, pulling the rope cord means paying the price, and the price is not only the tragedy of the old man thinking himself young, grasping for pleasures beyond reach and deluding those rightly his, but the wreckage of his own and the lives of those who love him.

Comes PINEAPPLE Juice

EATING should be one of the greatest pleasures of life, and the average European enjoys his food for its own sake and shuns the things he does not like, but the Americans are afflicted with so much advice on the subject of diet that we have come to think it dangerous to enjoy our food. That's all wrong.

The purveyors of pineapple juice seem to have imprisoned some of the joy of living, the liquid sunshine and the lovely music of Hawaii in the pretty cans in which it is offered to the public. It tastes good, it satisfies thirst, and all sorts of health claims are made for it, none of which we will quote because we are more interested at the moment in pleasure than in anything else, and this is a drink that gives pure pleasure.

Start the Day Right
The pleasures which unsweetened Hawaiian pineapple juice give to the palate are not only varied, but they can be enjoyed at any time. Here, for instance, are a couple of ways in which to start the day right with a brainy drink that includes Hawaiian pineapple juice.

Breakfast Cocktail: Wash and peel one pineapple. Cut into eight equal slices. Remove the core and cut each slice into four equal pieces. Put in a blender with one-half cup sugar and one-half cup water. Blend for five minutes. Strain through a fine sieve. Add one-half cup pineapple juice and one-half cup water. Blend for five minutes. Serve with ice.

And don't forget that you can have a drink that will make you drink of it all day long. If you will try this:

Refreshing Chocolate Drink: Boil together the contents of a 10-ounce can of condensed milk and one-half cup sugar. Add one cup of pineapple juice and one-half cup of water. Blend for five minutes. Strain through a fine sieve. Add one-half cup pineapple juice and one-half cup water. Blend for five minutes. Serve with ice.

Big New Building for Florida's Great Lakes Exhibit

A COMPANION BUILDING to the great white Florida Manor House which was the central feature of the State of Florida's seasonally successful exhibit at the Great Lakes Exposition in Cleveland, will be built for the big new 1937 Great Lakes Exposition which opens for 101 days on the shores of Lake Erie on May 29. It is designed by Phineas K. Platt and the Florida exhibit will occupy almost double the space of last year at the focal point of the entire show. Florida is now enjoying a great stimulation in tourist traffic, a great part of which is directly traceable to the travel from the Great Lakes states, where Florida orange juice and other winter products were so successfully brought to the attention of millions last summer.

CONTINUE RELIEF FOR THE NEEDY

Washington, March 18. (FNS)—Emergency relief work will be continued for those who have been removed from relief rolls through receiving old age or pension pensions, it was announced by Senator Claude Pepper this week following an interview with Work Progress Administrator Hopkins.

During the past several months many on relief rolls have been removed because of their inability to pay for old age or mother's pensions. These are wholly inadequate to provide for mothers, old people and dependent children, I have felt that the Administration of Mr. Hopkins would arrange to take care of this situation once it had been brought to his personal attention.

Under the ruling of the Administrator the WPA will continue to take care of these worthy cases until the state of Florida can have an opportunity to enact suitable legislation to comply with the provisions of the Social Security Act. It is proposed that the combined relief will equal what they have heretofore received.

19 Days Of Racing For P. B. Track

There are only 19 more exciting nights at the Greyhound track, 82 of the allotted 84 nights have been sold. The track closes permanently for this 1937 meet on April 16th.

It has been an excellent season to date from every angle, except the officials of the club. The excellent weather, the better grade of dogs now running, the increase in interest in Greyhound racing have all contributed and played their part in making the 1937 meet such an outstanding one.

Track records have been tied on several occasions and the Everglades course record was lowered 1-5 of a second by Hidden Harmony on March 11th. This followed a triumph by the Greyhound race and those familiar with the sport and it is believed that before the meet closes that every track record on all the courses will be reduced in time. The daily track still continues to be the feature of the evening and has paid very high prices this year. It is problematical whether the high prices paid during the first two years will be reached. This high price was $1044.40 and was paid on February 29th last year for a 54 tick.

Gladys Swarthout to Sing Lead In Metropolitan Opera's "Mignon"

BY GLADYS SWARTHOUT
For you're it seemed to me that the destiny that chased the fate of opera singers had forgotten to get me out of boys' parts. I seldom had a chance to wear the ruffles, rustling skirts and all the alien finery that every woman adores. It was boots, boots, boots, double and hose, cloak and sword, almost every time I emerged from the Metropolitan wings. If there was an opera with a boy's part, the directors apparently said to themselves, "Well, there's Gladys Swarthout—she's a fine figure as a lad." So I paraded as page, wore Nicki's satin breeches and the royal habiliments of the Tarskivitch. Not to mention the tights of Frederick in "Mignon".

But now I am through with Frederick. Next Saturday afternoon I shall be Mignon herself for the first time in my Metropolitan career, in the presentation to be broadcast by the National Broadcasting Company and the Radio Corporation of America. And even if Mignon is quite a tumbler, there is still plenty of compensation in portraying her struggles to be recognized as a woman, with a woman's right to love.

At the opening of the opera the good bargains of a small German town are gathered at the tavern on the edge of the forest. Mignon, the deranged, old, aged girl, a girl of blurred memory whose life is spent in search for her abandoned daughter, really is. Their attention quickly shifts to the arrival of a band of gypsies, Mignon among them.

It comes time for her to do "the dance of the eggs" but, recast of ill treatment, she refuses. The gray leader raises a wick, Mignon is allowed to ignore the scene, but she is miserably jealous. "I loathe her!" she hisses under her breath.

After the first scene, Mignon retires on one of Philline's beautiful dresses and Wilhelm, returning, is amazed at the transformation from boy to woman. He tells her that it is best for her reputation to stay near him. To make things worse, Philline comes in and humiliates her. Poor Mignon leaves the house as a fugitive and the actress' quick remarks that one might say the girl was jealous.

Again in gypsy costume, Mignon rushes out into the night, intending to drown herself. There she encounters Lothario, on his way to Italy, and she runs to him for sympathy. The sound of Philline's triumphant song rings through the night and Mignon, bitter and full of sympathy, goes out into the night, intending to drown herself. There she encounters Lothario, on his way to Italy, and she runs to him for sympathy.

ST. VALENTINE

ST. VALENTINE, in whose name expressions of love have been exchanged since early Roman times, appeared frequently in early Church history. Monks or priests have been named under that name in France, Italy, Spain and South Africa, and it was given special significance in the Third century by a Roman priest noted for his good deeds and by a certain bishop of Urbino.

But a favorite legend identifies the saint who is responsible for our annual indulgence in lace paper, cards and sweet ditties with a Roman youth of the early Christian era, who chose to be crucified rather than deny his adherence to the new faith. While lying in prison awaiting execution, he wrote a letter to his father's daughter and left for her a farewell message signed "from your Valentine." Early cries in his honor are identified with the Roman festival of the Lupercal, in which supplicants prayed for success in matters of love.

Valentines in the familiar heart shape were "usually exchanged in ancient times as early as the fourth century, and St. Valentine's day is mentioned by both Chaucer and Shakespeare. Probably the first Valentine in the English language was written in 1416:

This day Dame Nature seemed to the lady's heart began to move. Fresh juices stirred the embracing of the heart and drew their Valentine. (Ch. 121, Western Newspaper Union.)

GIRLS, DO YOU WANT TO GET A HUSBAND?

This seems like an unusual question it refers to an unusual play that is to be given by the Senior Class of Pahokee High School at the high school auditorium on April 2. The play is entitled, "A Husband For Sale" and is written by Ray Higgins. One of the outstanding playwrights of America. By special arrangement with the Northwestern Press, the senior class has leased the play and will present it here.

This play was selected out of a list of one hundred plays because of its great comedy scenes and because it offers fine acting opportunities for each and every member of the large cast. Rehearsals have been under way for some time now and the players are all eager to do their stuff. Incomparable wit and situations that will fairly bow you over and delight you with the acting of the various members of the well-known cast.

Pahokee has long been noted for its Senior plays and actors, and this play will show them all off to great advantage. Be sure to remember the date and get your tickets early for "A Husband For Sale." Treat yourself and friends to a good time and plenty of laughter on the evening of April 2.

Christie also spoke briefly, paying tribute to those who would serve the public in the session and expressed confidence that the session would prove harmonious and result in the enactment of wise and helpful legislation.

A bit of humor was injected in the program when Toastmaster John Burles called on W. C. Cole, columnist and commentator, to say a few words about the legislature. In his characteristic style Ray drew a word picture of the legislature in session that brought waile after wave of laughter.

Altogether the party was a great success and those attending expressed the belief that this informal gathering would prove very effective in promoting mutual friendship and goodwill between all members of the legislature and make for a better understanding of each other's view and a more harmonious session.

Big Program—

Aside from affording yachting visitors to Florida a new and different adventure, completion of the canal finishes the last link of an $18,000,000 project for Lake Okeechobee flood control. Pleasure craft, of less than deep sea tonnage, and cargo traffic, are provided a new and safer route from Atlantic to Gulf than the perilous route via Cape Sable heretofore necessary.

Following the 10-mile course of the new canal, the extensive waterways will view all varieties of Florida's far famed tropical scenery. Along the canalized St. Lucie River, across Lake Okeechobee, and down the Caloosahatchee to the Gulf, scenic beauty ranges from fringed beaches to cattle ranges, orange groves, cane fields, gloomy cypress swamps and jungle hammocks filled with mangroves and giant corks draped in Spanish moss. Rare bird and plant life flourishes along the entire course, and its waters is one of the finest fishing in the world.

Beginning for the first night's celebration in Clewiston, the yachtsmen will arrive in Fort Myers next day for a day celebration and viewing of the new $100,000,000 project built by the state prepared to accommodate traffic on the new waterway.

"Experience for the last few years," he will tell the committee "has demonstrated the fact that the Everglades area is a vast area adapted to the growing of cane sugar. Twelve months of practically uninterrupted sunshine each year combined with adequate rainfall properly distributed and the most fertile land on the face of the globe combine to make this particular area the ideal spot for the production of sugar cane."

He explained that the "cane sugar industry now regularly employs between 3,500 and 5,000 men annually and if permitted to continue at its present rate of expansion, employ 100,000.

"Florida is interested in the production of sugar and not in the subsidies to be paid companies which own the plantations," Wilcox asserted. "Even with the limited acreage under regulations of the Jones-Costigan law, the Everglades section of my state has demonstrated that if permitted to grow it will produce cane sugar upon an efficient basis and without the support of a government subsidy."

"It seems to me utterly ridiculous that with only approximately 20 per cent of our domestic consumption of sugar produced within continental United States, we should limit its production in any section and leave ourselves dependent for approximately 70 per cent of our total consumption upon our overseas possessions and foreign countries."

In discussing the history of South Florida agriculture, and the direct effects which the cane sugar government has permitted Cuba to work on it, Wilcox concluded:

"For many years, South Florida enjoyed an extensive and profitable pineapple industry. The soil was admirably situated for the growing and marketing of pineapples in this country. By a combination of reduced tariffs and unfair trade rates, the federal government conspired to drive the pineapple industry in Florida into bankruptcy and gave it to Cuba."

"South Florida then turned its attention to the production of winter vegetables. In 1934, over the objection of Florida, a reciprocal trade agreement was negotiated with the republic of Cuba
